

LEADERSHIP SKILLS FOR NEW MANAGERS PROGRAMME

Course overview

This course will support new managers to build new skills, build upon existing skills and sculpt their own leadership and management style to confidently lead. By the end of this course emerging leaders would have explored various key general management principles, as well as developed a deeply personal and introspective understanding of the self and how better to relate to and manage teams. These skills will allow the emerging leader to harness their personal power, to make decisions in the context of their environment, and enhance their leadership effectiveness .
